

BLACK HISTORY MOMENT

Cynthia Oates

Cynthia Oates taught elementary school children for 30 years, first in Wilmington and then, after desegregation in 1975, in the Red Clay School District, where she also served as a Student Relations Specialist. Oates also served for 13 years on the board of the Christina School District, helping to set education policy. Additionally, she has served on the boards of many social service agencies including the first Wilmington River Front Development board and on the Foster Care Review Board. (SSAM)
